

Student Assessment
HLTAAP002 Confirm physical health status

Task 2

Practical Observation

You will be assessed practically in a simulated environment using another student as a client with a health condition that you will have to investigate, to demonstrate your understanding of body systems.

You are required to complete the following demonstration on a student from the class.

In a simulated clinic environment, the “student/client” will present with a common condition as determined by the lecturer. The student being assessed must demonstrate their ability to understand the variation from normal health status, ask questions to clarify condition and refer patient on if beyond their scope of expertise. During this assessment, the student must demonstrate a basic understanding of body systems, and associated organs, etc.

The trainer will complete an observation checklist and it will form part of the evidence gathered for this unit.